Mr. Tountas,

Please don't make statement about things that you don't know. EROS is not anything I remotely care about at all. I have no contact with any long or short in EROS about EROS. In your work day EROS maybe important to you, but to me I have no interest or doubts about EROS at all, and your service is defective. I don't know about your lawsuit and this email represents the full extent of my knowledge.

Given this information, which I hope you trust to be correct, complete, and accurate, please call me so we can discuss it and see if we can come to an agreement.

A 1-week extension beyond the date that we negotiated with the other defendants, together with a stipulation of service, which that would require me to respond by December 7, 2017, is not acceptable under the factors and circumstances.

Please tell me when you are available for a call.

Mr. Asensio,

As you are no doubt aware, all of the defendants in the Eros litigation other than yourself and your related entities promptly contacted us and negotiated a deadline to respond to our complaint by November 30, 2017.

Your deadline for responding to Eros's complaint has already passed. Nevertheless, we will consider stipulating to a 1-week extension beyond the date that we negotiated with the other defendants, together with a stipulation of service, which would require you to respond by December 7, 2017.

If our proposal is agreeable to you, please have your lawyer send us a proposed stipulation.

Regards,
